(abs) = Abstract. (E) = Editorial. (B.R.) = Book Review

Abbott, Donald P. The early diagnosis of true hernia of the diaphragm (abs), 295.
Abels, Hans. On retarded development of a new-born child caused by roentgen radiation in early fetal period (abs), 200
Abrami, P., and Widal, F. Asthma and hyperthyroidism. Treatment by roentgenotherapy of the thyroid gland (abs), 503
Acoustic neuroma, results of roentgenotherapy on, 49
Acromegaly following gigantism: report of case treated by x-ray (abs), 391
Actinomycetes, roentgen sensitiveness of (abs), 597
Adenomyoma of recto-vaginal septum; association with pregnancy; radium treatment; apparent recurrence (abs), 190
Adenopathies, large, in tuberculosis of the adult (abs), 401
A Descriptive Atlas of Radiographs of the Bones and Joints. By A. P. Bertwistle (B.R.), 177
Allison, Robert G. Bone findings in chloroma (abs), 295
Altmann, V. The direct measurement of true scattered rays inside and out of the pyramid (abs), 593
Alvarez, Walter C., and Friedlander, B. L. The rate of progress of food residues through the bowel (abs), 94
Amberson, J. Burns. The significance of roentgenographic pleural annular shadows (abs), 387
American Annual of Photography (B.R.), 177
American Medical Association, program for radiological section, 1925, 375
  Report of section of radiology, 1925, 573
  Section of radiology, 169
American Radium Society, program of annual meeting, 478
  Report of Tenth Annual Meeting, 577
American Roentgen Ray Society, announcement of annual meeting for 1925, 279
  Program of Central Section meeting, 75
  Report of annual meeting of Central Section, 278
Andersen, Ernst. The treatment of carcinomas with saline and the intensification of roentgen-ray action by salt enrichment of the body (abs), 189
Aneurysm, arteriovenous of the carotid jugular (abs,) 183
Annular shadows and cavities, observation of (abs), 178
  In pulmonary tuberculosis (abs), 394
  Significance of roentgenographic pleural (abs), 387
Anomaly of the skeleton, hitherto undescribed (abs), 186
Antrum of Highmore, the x-ray as a means of safeguarding during extraction of teeth (abs), 392
Aortic hypertension, roentgenologic syndrome of (abs), 505
Appendicitis, chronic, 438
Appendix, the clinical importance of chronic changes in, 12
Area of patient's body, an apparatus for determining extension of, which is exposed to roentgen irradiation (abs), 304
Armand-Delille, M.P.-F. Contribution to the study of bronchial dilatations in children by means of intratracheal injections of lipiodol (abs), 180; and Duhamel, G., and Marty, P. The diagnosis of bronchial dilatations in the infant by means of lipiodol (abs), 181
Arterial lesions of diabetes disclosed by the roentgen ray (abs), 183
Arteriovenous aneurysm of the left carotid-jugular and the roentgenologic syndrome of right ventricular insufficiency (abs), 183
Association of German Roentgenologists of Czecho-Slovakian Republic, Third Scientific Session of, 281
Asthma and hyperthyroidism treated by roentgenotherapy of the thyroid gland (abs), 503
Atlas Chirurgisch-pathologischer Röntgenbilder. By Prof. Dr. Rudolf Grashey (B.R.), 385
Atrophy, post-traumatic, of the bones of the knee-joint (abs), 401

Baastrup, Chr. I. A new apparatus for determining the extension of the area of the patient's body exposed to roentgen irradiation (abs), 304; A new roentgen stereoscope, and a new method of increasing the sense of perspective (abs), 304
